Vision Statement For Manitouwadge Council

Hello, my name is Bryce Dube, I am 22 years old, and I have expressed interest in filling in the vacancy position for Manitouwadge Council. I have a vision for change and progress, and I believe making changes for our small town is one step toward a... Better environment. Better future.

Our town's future is a place where nature thrives and waste is effectively managed. By leveraging our natural beauty, we will attract visitors from far and wide, boosting our economy and strengthening our community. Implementing sustainable and possibly profitable waste management will revolutionize our economy, ensuring a cleaner and more sustainable environment for generations to come. Together, we can create a vibrant and thriving town we proudly call home.

I will approach public and private sources and hopefully team up with universities and Canadian research institutions on research projects for agriculture and environmental studies and hopefully attract them to our town and use us as an area for research. The benefits will be pretty good and the revenue stream coming from the access wouldn't hurt

Our town's future is a hub for innovation, creativity, and learning. By partnering with universities and colleges, we will attract researchers and academics to our town, fostering a culture of intellectual curiosity and discovery. In collaboration with the arts and sciences community, we can deepen our understanding of the natural world and celebrate its beauty through the implementation of micro campuses (i.e, a house for study), these will enhance our town by adding revenues for the economy. Manitouwadge has a lot of potentials to have a knowledge-based economy in addition to our mining. In addition to our unique historical society, we will create a space where residents and visitors can explore our town's unique past and present and envision a brighter future together.

Along with being active in the community by taking a leadership role in community events and listening to the people of the town, my key directives for this town are to make a much cleaner environment by reducing the need for landfill by incorporating tried and true methods of waste management that could generate revenue and employment. I have the plan to make Manitouwadge a model town for the north shore in sustainable waste management. As well as making Manitouwadge a hub for thinkers and academics to stimulate our economy through research.
